If only one person is in charge of the event, he/she must find another NCMEA orchestra member to be named as the second person on the account. (It is a NCMEA policy to have two names on all accounts).

b. If the Event Chair does not wish to open a separate financial account, all paperwork must be completed according to NCMEA financial guidelines and submitted to the appointed region treasurer. This means that all deposits for registration and all other financial obligations will be sent to the Region Treasurer. (Checks for honorariums and reimbursements will only be written by the Region Treasurer according to the submitted financial reports after the event has occurred).

2. All MPA and Solo & Ensemble events will be handled financially at the state level through the NCMEA Executive Director.

a. The Planning Chair will pay the honorarium to the adjudicators and site host. The NCMEA Executive Director will issue payment of the Planning Chair's honorarium upon receipt of the financial reports and other necessary documentation.
